

MISTLETOE AND...RHYME? THE PERFECT WEDDING SPEECH

By Helen Burns

Screen siren Mae West knew her stuff when she said "personality is the glitter that sends your little gleam across the footlights into that big black space where the audience is." And to the honoured best man, that big black space can be extremely daunting! Wedding day speeches can cook up a storm by following a simple recipe: a drop of affectionate anecdote, a splash of humour, a dash of sincerity and lashings of glittering personality. Yours!

A unique way to truly personalise the occasion, give your guests an insight into your romance, and set your wedding day aside from any other, is with a bespoke, personal poem, telling your beautiful story in rhyme.

A special poem about your own love story, from first date to proposal, could be recited in a speech, given as a wedding party gift or used as a place setting or favour. They are perfect ice-breakers guaranteed to make your guests laugh and cry; they're also an ideal solution for any nervous father of the bride, groom or best man wanting to deliver an eloquent, heartfelt speech with a double dose of humour!
