

“Working with couples gives me job satisfaction”

After featuring in the magazine, Helen didn't want to give up the world of weddings...

“Bespoken Dreams was inspired, quite simply, from a passion stirred from planning my own romantic wedding in 2009. I've always adored weddings and I'm passionate about creating events that induce goosebumps, memories and smiles! After featuring as a real-life bride in Wedding Ideas, I continued researching weddings, and in July 2010, I began writing a bridal blog, forging beautiful relationships with brides, suppliers and industry professionals. With previous experience in event planning the next step was to follow my own professional dream. I trained with the UK Alliance of Wedding Planners and successfully gained a Wedding Planner diploma in April 2011. Bespoken Dreams was launched in May 2011. Because of this foundation, bespokendreams.co.uk

has been a success – our ethos is a personalised wedding is a happy wedding! Working creatively with couples to provide stylish, stress-free weddings gives me job satisfaction.”
